HUN ALLIES WANT PEACE

Sought Cessation of Hostilities a Month Ago, Says a Geneva Dispatch.

Rome, Oct. 5.—Bulgaria learned through American channels that Turkey was negotiating for peace more than a month ago, said a Geneva dispatch to the Eocha today. The discovery, said the dispatch, resulted in the Bulgarian armistice.

Zurich, Oct. 5.—Mutiny is reported to have broken out in the Turkish army.

Ten thousand deserters marched upon Constantinople demanding the resignation of Tallat Bey and Enver Pasha from the ministry, said a dispatch received here today.

There were clashes between the deserters and loyal troops, but the result of these pitched battles is unknown.

An army of deserters has grown up in a number of towns.

Amsterdam, Oct. 5.—Austria-Hungary has requested Holland to invite the belligerents to take part in peace negotiations, says the Vienna correspondents of the Berlin Tageblatt. The correspondent adds that Holland already has sent out the invitations.

A delegation of Hungarian statesmen, headed by Premier Wekerle, has arrived at Vienna in connection with a new peace move, acording to the Cologne Gazette. The other members of the Wekerle party were Count Stephen Tisza and Count Julius Andrassy, former Premiers of Hungary, and Count Albert Apponyi, the Hungarian Minister of Instruction.

A new and decisive step will be taken on the initiative of Baron Burian, the Austrian Foreign Minister, the newspaper says.

Regarding the negotiations at Vienna, Premier Wekerle said to the representative of a Hungarian newspaper: "This much I can tell you: We are again laboring untiringly in the interests of peace and we are already negotiating."

The Turkish Minister of the Interior has resigned, acording to a Constantinople message today.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The allied armies will attend to the reply to Austria's reported peace plea via Holland's government.

Incidentally, some authorities here foresee plainly that Germany proposes a new and particularly sinister peace offensive before long. Its indicated lines are based upon a retirement from Belgium and northern France.

When this retirement has been accomplished, it is likely Germany will endeavor to appeal to the pacifist element of her foes, particularly in Great Britain among the Lansdowne and labor factions, for a peace contemplating no claim to any French or Belgian soil. Such an appeal must be combated, authorities here say, especially as it would be based largely upon retention of an enfeebled grasp on Russia.

100 KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Munition Loading Station Wrecked by Series of Blasts.

Perth Amboy, N. J., Oct. 5.—More than 100 workmen are believed to have been killed last night by a series of terrific explosions followed by a fire which wrecked the huge shell loading plant of the T. A. Gillespie Loading Company at Morgan's Station near here.

As many as 2,000 men may have been at work in the plant, as it was said the full night shift was busy when the explosions occurred. The loss of life may be largely in excess of 100, the police declare.

No definite information was obtainable as to whether any of the women operatives were at work in the plant last night, but belief was expressed that only men were working when the explosions took place.

The explosions said to be nine in number, shook the earth for a long distance from the plant and were heard for many miles.

Terror-stricken women and children, hundreds of whom live in and near South Amboy and whose relatives work with the Gillespie plant, made a mad rush for the scene of the disaster when they saw the glare of the fire.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Employes at Virginia Shipbuilding Plant Purchase $30,000 Liberty Bonds. Sales May Reach $75,000. Addresses by A. E. Seymour, Washington, And M. L. Bowen.

A mass meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the plant of the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation for the purpose of stimulating subscriptions for the Fourth Liberty Loan. Good speaking, good music and singing marked the occasion, which was attended by not less than 1200 plant and office employees. The meeting was conducted by Mr. Bowen, assistant to the general manager and now chairman of the subscription committee for the company. Outlining briefly the purpose of the meeting, he pointed out that eevry dollar spent in Liberty Bonds shortens the war and every shortenening of the war saves the lives of our soldiers who are being sacrificed at a rate estimated to be one every two minutes.

A. E. Seymour, from the National Liberty Loan Headquarters, Washington, D .C., made the address of the day. In his opening remarks he lauded the efforts of the ship workers as being in one of the most essential of war industries. He called attention to the over-subscription of the previous Liberty Loans and pointed out that this loan is twice as large as we have ever had before and we must, therefore, dig twice as deep.

"The boys are on their way to Berlin and its up to us to pay their traveling expenses." Enthusiastic cheers of "We'll do it!" "You bet!" and "You said it!" from the audience, greeted these remarks. One fifty dollar bond will purchase three army rifles; one one-hundred dollar bond will completely equip a soldier. These facts and other straigtht from the shoulder facts were delivered by the speaker to an attentive crowd. In part he said: "Dreadful as this war is, if I could stop it right now simply by raising my hand, I would not! I would not stop it until the childhood of the world can be guaranteed, that the horrors of Belgium should not be repeated; I would not stop it until we can have something more than a 'scrap of paper' to stand between the women of the world and their violation; I would not sto it until government of the kaiser, by the kaiser, and for the kaiser shall have perished from the earth."

The quartet from the Y. M. C. A. at Camp Humphreys afforded some splendid singing, and in the end their leader got the big crowa singing.

Four cornetists of the Washington Boy Scout Band gave added zest to the occasion, and afterwards made a tour of the yard.

Up to Saturday morning subscriptions in the Virginia Shipbuilding plant totaled about $30,000, with a prospect that it would reach to $75,000.

GERMAN MORALE CRUMBLES.

Paris, Oct. 5.—The German situation on the western front is grave, the Frankfort Zeitung admits, adding that the German front is gradually crumbling.

"The Allied plan of attack', 'it adds, "is being carried out in an extraordinary manner. It is an awful strain on our front. The situation on the Meuse where the American attacks are just beginning is extremely critical part of the Chemin des Dames has had to be given up and the whole German front is gradually crumbling away under the Allied attacks."

FREEDOM FOR BOHEMIA

Czechs Declare Independence of Nation is Assured.

Amsterdam, Oct. 5.—The proclamation of the independence of Bohemia will be issued shortly, according to the Budapest newspaper Az Est.

"The members of the Czech national committee fear neither prison nor death," says the newspaper. "They all have made their wills and settled their material affairs, and the independence of Bohemia is virtually assured.

"All preparations have been made for the proclamation of the independence of Bohemia. Every portfolio has been distributed and the State program is ready while new Czech money is circulatsing privately."

BELGIANS TAKE 10,500

Advance Nine Miles on a Twenty-five Mile Front—Flanders Ridge Now in the Hands of the Allies.

Havre, Oct. 5.—The Belgian army, which is attacking with the British on the Flnaders battlefornt, has advanced nine miles on a twenty-five mile front, the Belgian war office announced today.

The whole of the Flanders ridge is now in the allies' possession.

The prisoners captured now total 10,500, while 150 cannon and 600 machine guns and trench mortars have been taken.

The text of the official report reads:

"The whole of the Flanders ridge has bee ncaptured.

"All of the Ypres-Dixmude area has been liberated.

"The prisoners now total 10,500. In addition we took 150 cannon and 600 trench mortars and machine guns."

Important Amendment.

The first important amendment to the new war revenue bill, affecting the general public, was adopted by the Senate Committee on Finance yesterday. It will require every individual with a gross income of $1,000 a year or more, to make a return to the government. In these times of high wages it will mean that almost every worker in the country, with steady employment, will have to account to the government for his income.

Owing to the war the luxurious Hotels Esplanade, of Berlin and Hamburg ,owned by the same company, which formerly depended upon British, American and Russian guests, have been run at such a loss that their entire capital, $1,250,00, has been wiped out.

ALLIES PRESSING ON

London, Oct. 5.—Only four miles now separate the British from Lille, the northern pivot of what a week ago was the Hindenburg line.

Field Marshal Haig announced last night that the British line now runs through Wavrin and Erquingham. The latter village lies only four miles west of Lille. Wavrin is two and three-quarter miles south of Erquingham.

On six separate but interdependent fronts along the 250-mile fighting line from the marshes of Flanders to the wooded hills northwest of Verdun, terrific battles were raging last night. Everywhere the allies are attacking, and where they are not battering their way forward they are crushing German counter thrusts.

The "front of fronts" for the moment is that between Cambrai and the region northeast of St. Quentin. There the British have hacked away the last barriers in the rear of the Hindenburg line, slashing a seven-mile breach into this last German line of resistance, between Fensomme and Beaurevoir.

Late yesterday British horsemen were reported entering Fresnoy-le-Grand, eight miles northeast of St. Quentin. If strong infantry forces are able to follow the mounted troops through the gap—and only a wall of flesh can stop them—then what remains of the Hindenburg line to the north and south will be outflanked presently.

The cavalry is coming into its own again. Thrilled by the achievements of their comrades in far-off Palestine, Haig's horsemen are eager to show what can be done on the West front, too, where trenches and barbed wire and craters have taunted them so long. The day of open warfare has dawned, and the cavalry means to make up for lost time.

To the north of the ruptured Hindenburg line sector, between Lens and Armentieres, the British are steadily pushing eastward. By dusk their advance since the German enforced retirement began had reached a maximum of six miles.

Douai, the link in the Hindenburg system between Cambrai and Lille, is in peril of being outflanked exactly as was St. Quentin. In Cambrai, fierce street fighting continues.

Threaten Witnesses

The lives of witnesses in the trial of Rosenwasser Brothers, of New York, who were involved in the recent army raincoat scandal, have been threatened by an organization known as the "Black Four," the Department of Justice has announced.

One of the Government witnesses was met by a gun man, who flourished a revolver and threatened his life if he appeared at the trial. The Rosenwasser firm held contracts for aeroplane coats, leggins, and shoes, worth more than $8,000,000.

Kings Flee From Guns.

With the British Armies in France, Oct. 5.—Even monarchs are not exempt from cowardice these days The King of Wurtemburg and the King of Saxony deserted their luxurious quarters near the rear of the battle line at Dadizelle, recently when British artillery laid down a heavy fire.

The two monarchs were watching the battle when the British artilierists gave them an unpleasant hour, Civilian refugees stated that the German rulers and their suites escaped inland.

RAID ON DURAZZO

Rout And Raids on Ports Threaten Power of Undersea Craft.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The submarine aspect of the war, already waned to camparative unimportance, became uppermost in the discussion among naval men yesterday afternoon in considering two great blows to the U-boat that promise to drive the German undersea spawn to their last lair.

The naval raid on Durazzo by Italian, British and American forces, destroying the base that has been used by German submarines operating in the Mediterranean has removed the last hampering of the lines of communication from Italy, England and Greece to the base at Corfu for the allied drive in Albania, according to a high naval official.

The bombardment of the Belgian coast by allied naval forces, in which American craft are said to be participating, acting as the sea side of the pincers, with Field Marshal Haig's advance on the land side, to squeeze the Germans from Belgium and their submarine bases at Ostend, Zeebrugge and other Belgian ports, will force the U-boats to German ports, said this official, restrict their operations very considerably and clear the North Sea so that lines of communication will be opened up to the Belgian ports for allied troops and supplies immediately behind the advance on that end of the line, without long rail transportation.

In both operations, the submarines are certain to be routed from their positions that heretofore have enabled them, in the instance of the North Sea base, to force the lines of communication far to the southward with the hazard of freer U-boat operations and, in the instance of the Adriatic base at Durazzo, to harass transport in the Mediterranean by creeping out through the Straits of Otranto.

MUST MAIL YANKS' GIFTS BY NOV. 15.

All packages for soldiers of the American Expeditionary Forces must be in the mails on or before November 15. Packages mailed later than that date will be held over until after the Christmas rush for delivery, according to a statement made to The Gazette today by Merritt O. Chance, Postmaster for the District of Columbia.

"Each soldier in France will be allowed to receive only one package," said Mr. Chance today. "The package must not weigh over three pounds and must not be over nine inches long, four inches wide, and three inches high."

General Pershing will send to the War Department within the next two weeks a list of names of every soldier who is in France. The War Department will at once take the list and send to each soldier's nearest relative a notice stating that if so inclined he or she may send a Christmas package to the boy who is "over there."

To each name on this list will be attached a coupon, which will be delivered to the nearest relative of the soldier. This coupon must be given to the postmaster who takes your Christmas gift for delivery to a soldier in France. Postmasters will not be allowed to accept packages for A. E. F. boys without receiving one of these coupons.

TO CHECK DISEASE

Dr. Wood Orders Car Windows to be Kept Open—Temporary Hospital Opens in Christ Church Parish Hall for Treatment of Patients—Other Church Halls May be Used.

Energetic steps to prevent a further spread of Spanish influenza were taken today by Dr. W. L. Wood, special state health officer and also of the United States Public Health Service, when he issued an order that from now on all windows on the cars of the Washiigton-Virginia aRilway Company, must be kept open. Persons who refuse to let the windows remain open will be subject to arrest and the imposition of a fine.

Dr. Wood conferred with officials of the railway company and they agreed to post notices in the cars to this effect.

A temporary hospital has been opened for the reception of persons ill with the malady in the parish hall of Christ Episcopal Church. Thirty cots have been installed.

This will primarily be for persons who are unable to get treatment at home, and particularly for employes of the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation.

Dr. Wood says Red Cross nurses will look after the patients who are taken to this place and also others who will volunteer to nurse.

It is the purpose of Dr. Wood to arrange for other church halls and convert them into temporary hospitals in order that the many strangers in the city who have only ooms and who are down with the disease will be able to secure treatment. The Alexandria Hospital is crowded.

At the present time it is stated that there are number of new citizens in rooming houses ill with the disease who have been unable to secure the treatment they should have.

With such steps taken as a precautionary measure against a further spread of the disease it is believed that the malady may soon be stamped out.

Physicians And Nurses Busy.

The physicians of the city just now are taxed to their utmost and some are working day and night and even then not able to respond to all of the calls. Every nurse in the city is busy and more nurses are needed. Dr. Wood announced in yesterday's Gazette that all persons who can do so should volunteer their services in this work.

Inquire About Whisky.

Whisky has been recommended to be used in small quantities in hot water in the treatment of the disease by some of the physicians.

Many persons were of the opinion that owing to the existence of the epidemic they could secure some of the confiscated whisky now stored at police headquarters.

The result was a constant stream of personal inquiries and also many telephone messages about it during the day.

The police, however, explained such was not the case. The whisky that may be needed can be obtained from druggists who have the required license and only on physician's prescription, as always has been the case, it is stated.

With the closing of the churches, schools, moving picture establishments and pool rooms and other places where persons gather in large numbers it is believed that the disease soon will be stamped out in this city.

No Church Service.

For the first time since the civil war there will be no public religious services here tomorrow. Every church will be closed in compliance with the order and in their efforts to co-operate in stamping out the plague. Inquiry was made of Dr. Wood this morning if it would be permission to hold services in a church yard. Dr. Wood, however, suggested that no such services be held as it might have a tendency ot cause a further spread of the disease. Therefore, there will be no open air service at any of the churches tomorrow.

Humphreys Quarantined.

Owing to the spread of Spanish influenza Camp Humphreys has been quarantined by the military authorities. The quarantine went into operation at 6 o'clock last night. No soldiers will be permitted to leave the camp without a special permit.

A CHURCHLESS SUNDAY

All houses of worship in Alexandria will be closed tomorrow on account of the prevalence of what is now called Spanish influenza, but which city physicians say is the old-time grippe, only this and nothing a disease which revails more or less more, a disease which prepvails more or less every fall and winter, but of an epidemic.

which periodically assumes the form

We believe this will be the first time for over a half century that Alexandria will have experienced a churchless Sunday. During the civil war the Army of the Potomac was suddenly returned to Alexandria One Saturday after having operated on the Peninsula, and as it was bleak and cold, acommodations were needed at once for the soldiers. It was at first suggested that they be entertained in private families, but as the city was at the time overcrowded, most houses containing more than one family, it was suggested that the churches be turned over to the army. This was done and the plan for housing the men in private homes was abandoned.

A Churchless Sunday is a new departure to the present generation There will be no calls to prayers from the muezzins tomorrow, but every man will be given an opprtunity to worship God in his own way. And there are ways in which this can be done. The great mass of humanity have but little time in which to study their Bibles. During these strenuous days they have still less, and an entire Sunday to ourselves when the Book of Books can be read at pleasure will doubtless prove acceptable to many.

An article elsewhere in the Gazette tells that people of Paris are praying instead of indulging in jubilation over the victories of the allies. While we will not be led by the preacher tomorrow, we can utter mental invocations, as do the Parisians, to the Creator and Upholder of All to continue his smiles upon the nations who are battling for their God-given rights—Liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Our God is not Thor with a smashing hammer, as our enemies paint Him. In the language of the late Henry Ward Beecher, the clouds parted nineteen hundred years ago, through which we see "Our Father which art in heaven."

PREPARING THE PEOPLE

German papers are permitted to print news and opinions that certainly cannot encourage the people to go on with the war. The ways of the censorship are past finding out, but it really looks as if the German Government wanted the minds of the people prepared for the inevitable debacle. Perhaps it is felt that if the people are allowed to face the facts for some little time the excitement will be less and there will not be so much danger of revolutionary movements. German papers are allowed to discuss the position of their country in the event of Austria's surrender, an deven to suggest that if Austria should surrender Bavaria might do the same. In view of the feeling of Bavarians toward Prussians, this is not so very improbable, but of course it would mean the complete disintegration of the German Empire.

Shortly after the Germans had precipitated the war it was a favorite taunt of the Kaiser to the Allies to tell them they were biting granite in their attempts to break the Hun line. A cartoon in an exchange this morning represents that line as a wall of cheese which has been broken.

Sometime ago when it was suggested that Germany deliver Alsace-Lorraine to the French from whom it ley filched it in 871 the haughty Kaiser said: "Let them come and take it." This invitation has been accepted and these rich provinces with Strassburg and its wonderful clock will doubtless before this time next year be again under the French flag.

DELMONICO'S IN TROUBLE

Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were instituted yesterday against Delmonico's, the famous restaurant at Fifth avenue and Forty-fourth street, New York, which is probably as widely known as any eating-place in the world, when three men filed a petition in the Federal Court. Their combined claims amounted to only $799.15. Receivers have been appointed.

The history of Delmonico's is interesting. Nearly a century ago a prominent New York merchant while in Paris met the original Delmonico and his wife who were then operating a small cafe in the French capital. Their place was unpretentious, although they served inviting dishes, and the merchant while in Paris always dined at Delmonico's. On one occasion he suggested that New York would be a better field for restaurateur, and the Frenchman and his wife were induced to come to America. Delmonico's brother later became associated with him. The enterprise was a success from the beginning, and Delmonico's soon became a place where prominent New York merchants dined. It achieved a national reputation, and a trip to New York without a visit to this famous place was as a trip now without seeing the Brooklyn Bridge.

Alexandrians of old after having visited the metropolis always told of their experience in Delmonico's. It was celebrated for the perfect order maintained. Should a rich spendthrift enter the place and cause the slightest disturbance he was never again entertained at the place. A Delmonico boycott was regarded as one of the most dire calamities that could befall the opulent and thoughtless.

But the old Greek saying is true—there is an end to all things, and some few Alexandrians who remember Delmonico's when at their zenith will read the above with regret.

THE FIRST SHEAVES

Premier Clemenceau of France recently referred to present conditions with the allies in glowing terms. Among other things he said:

"These victories are only the first sheaves of the fruitful harvest, of which the highest recompense will be the final deliverance of the world from the oppression of implacable brutality and open the way for its marvelous development. Let us salute the glorious aurora whose first rays illuminated the victorious fronts of the founders of the American Republic and of our revolutionary forefathers. In the abyss of irreparable defeat the Prussian militarists will bear the shame of the greatest attempt at wrongdoing of which a barbaric people has been able to dream. The supreme obstacle to the reign of right and law among mankind is about to disappear in the acclaim of a victory in which it is our duty to make effective the triumph of humanity."

A stranger who was in Paris a few days ago tells of the remarkable quiet in the French capital while victory over the Huns is being announced. He did not understand why an excitable people could remain pacific under such cheering news. He met a man on crutches and asked him why there was so little enthusiasm. By the flickering flame he could see medals for valor on the man's breast. He was legless, but he had a giant's voice.

"Why is there no celebration of victory?" he was asked. His answer, it is believed, is the answer from Paris' heart.

"Monsieur, after four years we learn to wait. Good news may come when God wills it. But there have been many disappointments. We wait until there is no doubt."

ON THE BELGIAN COAST

About the best news we are getting is of the progress of the Belgians and British in dislodging the Germans from the coast of Belgium. The Allies have advanced far enough now to make the submarine bases at Ostend and Zeebrugge practically useless. Their value was greatly impaired by the brilliant raids of the British navy and the obstruction of the ports by sinking vessels loaded with concrete. The military operations cutting in at the rear destroy what little utility has been left to these ports.

If the submarine bases are moved back to Hamburg and Bremen, 700 miles will be added to the voyage every submarine will have to make in going forth after its victims and getting home again for supplies. The submarines can carry only limited amounts of stores, and this 700 miles will come out of their cruising radius after they reach the areas where they lie in wait for their victims. The submarines will very nearly be put out of commission by the change of base.

This, however, will not be the most important result of clearing the Germans out of the Belgian coast. The most valuable result will be that an Allied army can be landed and move southward against the enemy's lines of communication, as the American army is moving northward from the region between the Meuse and the Argonne forest.

The Allies could not land on the Belgian coast because the German fortifications on the shore and mines planted in the sea, together with submarines operating near their bases, made esuch an operation too hazardous. The Germans got their right flank uon the coast, though they did not get as far down the coast as they intended to; they did not reach the British Channel. But they had the North Sea and the Netherlands to guard their extreme right flank, and any attack there would have been of uncertain result, but of only too certain appalling losses.

Now, however, the British monitors are operating along the coast and the British and Belgian troops are cutting into the German lines a few miles inland, and there is a strong probability that in a few days the Belgian coast will be sufficiently cleared to expose the German armies and their communications with home to another flank attack. They had better not delay too long, or all of them will not get away.—Philadelphia Record.

To the Editor:

The funeral of John Crilly, Jr., will be held in Washington, D. C., Monday. Through the untimely death of young Crilly, a great grief has come to the hearts of his family circle, nad to his host of friends in this, his native city. Yet through long months of separation the shadow of this sorrow must have haunted the hearts that loved him best—for what mother can, by her parting kiss, consecrate her only son to his country's cause in days like these, without making the supreme offering of his young life

Though brief the span of years—he was only twenty-two—that marked his life work, it has been great in its achievement for, "it is glorious to die for one's country."

Persistently, he sought to enlist. Being under weight, his first application was unsuccessful but, determined to make good, he sought brawn and muscle for a year out on a western ranch, and he was a proud, happy boy when at length, he hurried home, to say he had been accepted for active service.

In North Sidney, Nova Scotia, Canada, a week ago today, death from double pneumonia claimed him as its victim. No word of preparation preceded the telegram that brought the death message to his home in Washington. No account of his last hours came to comfort the bereaved parents and sisters who through seven long days awaited the coming of all that is mortal of their only boy.

They will lay him to rest in Mount Olivet—close to home—a comfort that many a bereaved parent will not know these days. Hosts of friends have paid and will pay him their tribute of tears but in the light of present events, congraulations rather than condolence seem in order. A life like young Crilly's lives itself into lives yet unborn. He is one of the countless thousands of American boys who are giving to the world today, object lessons of the purest, highest patriotism.

Though bereaved, the hearts of his loved ones should rejoice—should be proud of his memory.

Another hand is beckoning them.

A golden star is given
Whose light "illumines Earth's troubled way"—
The path that reaches Heaven.
Fold him O Father in Thine arms,
And may he henceforth be
A messenger of love, between
Their human hearts and Thee.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Reports of a riot between negroes and foreigners at the E. I. DuPont de Nemours plant at Hopewell, caused a platoon of soldiers to be rushed there from Camp Lee late yesterday. It was said two persons had been killed. Soldiers from Camp Lee and a local military company were patrolling the street last night, but firing in the negro section was still in progress. Over a thousand shots have been fired. The riot was started by a Spaniard named Gomez, steward in a restaurant, who slapped a negro woman employed as cook. Her husband resented it, and the row precipitated a general riot.

A mysterious young woman, pretty, but defiant, who refused flatly to give any information concerning herself when confronted with the charge of brose stealing, was yesterday taken from Winchester to Fairfax, for a hearing. She was arrested by Sheriff Pannett while eating dinner with a negro family in Berkeley county, W. Va. The horse, the property of a farmer of Fairfax county, was recovered.

I Am Only a Cog

I am only a cog in a giant machine a link of an endless chain:—
And the rounds are drawn, and the rounds are fired and the empties return again;
Railroad, lorry and limber, battery, column and park;
To the shelf where the set fuse waits the breech, from the quay where the shells embark.
We haye watered and fed, and eaten our beef; the long dull day drags by,
As I sit here watching our "Archibalds" strafing an empty sky;
Puff and flash on the far-off blue round the speck one guesses the plane—
Smoke and spark of the gun-machine that is fed by the endless chain.

I am only a cog in a giant machine, but a vital link of the chain;
And the captain has sent from his wagon-line to fill his wagons again;
From the wagon-limber to gunpit dump; from loader's forearm at breech
To the working party that melts away when the shrapnel bullets screech.
So the restless section pulls out once more in column of route from the right
At the tail of a blood-red afternoon; so the flux of another night
Bears back the wagons we fill at dawn to the sleeping column again—
Cog on cog in the gun-machine, link on link in the chain!

—by Gilbert Frankau

The ammunition carrier is only a link in the great war machine, but he is as vital a link in the chain as the man who goes over the top. And back of the ammunition carrier comer the ammunition maker and the railroad workers and the thousands of varieties of war workers until it comes straight home to the individual man and woman who helps save the necessities of life and refrains from wasteful spending in order to help our fighting men. Every link in the fighting chain, every cog in the war machine must be of the strongest steel. Every heart must be steel against waste these days. We are all part of the great battle, let us each do our part and make it a great part.

DRIVE FOR WAR FUNDS

All Organizations, Regardless of Creed Unite to Raise $170,500,000 to Help American Fighting Forces.

Assurances that men and women of all creeds are rallying throughout the country as loyal Americans in support of the United War Work Campaign are conveyed in telegrams received at headquarters in New York. "A regular love feast" is the description wired of the convention at Chattanooga, Tenn., where delegates of the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A, National Catholic War Council and K of C, War Camp Community Service, Jewish Welfare Board, American Library Association and Salvation Army met to ratify the preparations which the seven great organizations have made for a combined drive to raise $170,500,000 for welfare work among our fighting forces.

Unity of purpose to join in support of the soldiers, sailors and marines was expressed in every telegram describing state conventions in the Central and Southern States. The dispatches were addressed to John R. Mott, director-general of the United War Work Campaign and chief executive of the Y. M. C. A.

The message describing the Kentucky conference was:

"The seven agencies, represented by more than seven hundred delegates attended the Kentucky State Conference held at Louisville yesterday. A thorough-going organization was perfected, a splendid spirit manifested and the quota accepted."

The Tennessee "love feast" was described as follows:

"A splendid convention was held here with two hundred and fifty delegates. There were speakers from each organization. A regular love feast Committees on organization composed of one representative from each of the seven organizations recommended the election of the present state, district and county chairmen and the present members. These committees are to represent all organizations and in addition each organization is requested to name two more members for each executive committee. Closest harmony. Finest cooperation assured."

A supplementary support on the Tennessee conference announced:

"All seven organizations represented and great spirit of loyalty sympathy and cooperation manifested. Additional representatives of cooperating agencies added to state organization. Tennessee divided into three districts and total state goal of $1,625,000 accepted. Highest possible spirit of unity."

From Cheyenne, Wyo., was received the following:

"State convention here today surpassed fondest expectations. Program very satisfactory. Catholic Bishop attended all day; was most helpful. Outlook more than encouraging Seven State chairmen elected. Former Governor B. B. Brooks, of Casper elected state chairman. He was Y. M. chairman last drive. Seven chairmen compose state executive committee."

Unity in South Carolina is described in the following:

"Actual registration of out-of-town delegates South Carolina Convention 460 men and 142 women, total, 602. United States Senator, Governor and other state officials and outstanding men and women of the state present. Best convention yet, with all objectives attained and then some."

"Georgia conference decided success. More than 300 present, State quota accepted and success assured."

The same correspondent reporting for Florida, added: "Florida had 400 delegates present and raised quota to at least $1,000,000. Bishop Curly, Catholic, made great contribution to conference, obliterated religious differences."

An additional report from Florida announced:

"The following resolution was adopted by unanimous rising vote at conference of outstanding men from all sections of Florida today:

"Resolved that we pledge our undivided loyalty and support to the United War Work Campaign and express to the director-general, John R. Mott in whom we have to-day as in the past, supreme confidence and unshakable faith our highest allegiance."

Reporting from the conference in South Carolina, the correspondent wrote:

"Four hundred representative delegates today accepted the goal enthusiastically. All seven organizations in each state are working harmoniously. Each state conference has pledged you and your associates into loyal support."

Dr. Mott is touring the Mississippi Valley cities this week, rallying all elements to the support of the United War Work Campaign.
